

HENRY KEELING ELLYSON.

A PROMINENT RICHMONDER PASSES AWAY.

Death Occurred Unexpectedly While the Family Were at Thanksgiving Services in Church—Sketch of His Career—Arrangements for the Funeral.

Mr. Henry Keeling Elyson is dead. For more than half a century his figure was a familiar one on the streets of Richmond, his name a household word.

This sad event occurred yesterday morning at 11:40 o'clock, at the residence of his son, Mayor Elyson, 710 east Franklin street.

Although Mr. Elyson has been in feeble health for several weeks with heart trouble, he was unable to attend to his duties, his family was not expecting his death so soon, and he passed away peacefully in his bed, surrounded by his family, and his death was a surprise to all who knew him.

His death occurred yesterday morning at 11:40 o'clock, at the residence of his son, Mayor Elyson, 710 east Franklin street.

Mr. Elyson was born in Richmond on July 21, 1825. At an early age he began life as a printer in the office of the Southern Christian under the late William Sands. He was a most faithful and devoted worker, and his industry and integrity were well known to all who knew him.

He was a member of the Baptist church, and his religious convictions were a guiding principle in all his actions.

WHY THEY ARE THANKFUL.

EXPRESSIONS OF CITIZENS HERE AND THERE.

Most of them say they are glad they are living—Others are grateful for more blessings, such as wives and children.

Thanksgiving Day was perhaps more generally observed yesterday than it has been for some time past. By noon most of the business houses on Main street were closed, the postoffice had stopped public business, the banks had not opened their doors, and the streets were a very deserted and Sunday-like appearance.

Many of the churches held services, and the people gathered in great numbers to worship. The churches were filled with people, and the services were well attended.

All of the Episcopal churches held services, and the people gathered in great numbers to worship. The churches were filled with people, and the services were well attended.

At the Second Baptist church a union service was held by the Baptists. The service was well attended, and the people gathered in great numbers to worship.

PLIGHTING THEIR TROTH.

COUPLES MARRIED ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

Mr. Frank T. Clark and Miss Annie G. Glasgow—Mr. Willis B. Smith and Miss Parke Polk—Mr. John T. Schaaf and Miss Lillian Arnold.

The soft light of fairy lamps, the brilliancy of burnished candelabra, the daintiness of silken gowns, and the enhancing beauty of ferns and flowers, made Mr. F. T. Clark's parlors, at Foushee and Main streets, yesterday afternoon, a beautiful scene. The occasion was the nuptials of Miss Annie G. Glasgow and Mr. Frank T. Clark, and at 5 o'clock Dr. Moses D. Hoge spoke the impressive words that made them husband and wife.

On entering the house one was confronted in the spacious hallway by a lower-like arrangement of living plants and ferns. In the front parlor the mantel was prettily decorated, while on tables and stands flowers stood in profusion, adding their perfume to the fragrant atmosphere.

In the rear parlor the mantel and tables were decked with chrysanthemums, and in the dining room a lovely wedding supper was laid upon a prettily arranged table. It was a superb affair, served in excellent style, and embraced all the delicacies of the season, including oysters, roasts, wines, and victuals, with each other to please, and the result was in every way a pleasing one.

The wedding couple, the supper was partaken of, and the bride and groom were received by the happy couple.

The bride was attended in a very handsome manner, and the bride and groom were received by the happy couple.
